U. S. MEN IN CHINESE BANDIT HUNT

Americans Plan Rescue of English Missionary Held In Hills

BY C. E. HOGUE

(United Press Correspondent)
SHANGHAI, Mar. 18.—(Delayed.)—Three adventurous Americans today departed on a mission of rescue that will lead them into the haunts of the Yunnan bandits.

They are Dr. Elliott Osgood, medical missionary; Frederick Smith, of the Chicago Tribune and J. P. Thornton, a representative of the Standard Oil.

They intend to effect the rescue of G. E. Metcalf, an English missionary, just captured by the bandits.

The bandits are former soldiers. They are mutineers. They demand reinstatement—not money. They have signified that they will hold Metcalf until the Chinese government reinstates them in the army without loss of standing.

Dr. Osgood, Smith and Thornton have not embarked upon a foolhardy mission. They already have demonstrated their ability in the role of rescuers. Only recently they returned from a similar mission with A. L. Shelton, whom they rescued from the same bandits.

The three men, however, expect to experience great difficulty in saving Metcalf. The bandits, they believe, have retreated far into the mountains and are on their guard. It is possible an attempt at rescue through negotiation may be made.

U. S. ENGINEER HAS HARBOR WORK PLANS

Notices have been posted in Orange county by Major Frederick B. Downing, U. S. A. Corps of Engineers, calling attention to the fact that notice of intention to increase the length of the Orange county harbor jetty by 200 feet and to dredge the channel and entrance to the harbor to a depth of 20 feet, have been filed with him by the Orange County Harbor Commission. Plans also call for dredging the turning basin to a depth of 16 feet.

Protests against this work will be heard until 11 o'clock a. m., March 24. Protests must be based only on matters of navigation.

PROMINENT ATTORNEY TO BECOME A BANKER

FRESNO, Mar. 19.—W. A. Sutherland, of the law firm of Short & Sutherland, was yesterday elected vice president and general manager of the Bank and Trust Company of Central California.

Sutherland will sever his connection with the law firm in which he is junior partner, give up all of his legal business and enter actively into the banking life of the city.

Sutherland will not only be the managing head of the Bank and Trust Company of Central California, but will also have supervision over the affairs of the Farmers' National Bank. Necessary legal steps are now being taken to merge the latter bank with the Bank and Trust Company.

She was engaged in packing fruit when her arm caught in the belt and the fracture resulted before she could extricate the member.

CAPITAL'S SOCIETY DEBUTANTES DANCE AT CHARITY BALL

RANCHERS LEAD S. A. MARRIAGE LICENSE RACE

"Rich man, poor man, beggar man, thief," doctor, lawyer, merchant, chief," are all getting married these days, but the list does not include one type of citizen, who, so far as Orange county records are concerned, is leading in the matrimonial handicap. The rancher leads in Orange county, but he is closely followed by the laborer, salesman and machinist.

Plumbers, carpenters, painters and bricklayers who have risen almost to the millionaire class in the last few months are apparently not thinking much of marriage if the marriage license book in the office of County Clerk Backs can be taken as a criterion of their thoughts. In the licenses issued this year and which have been recorded with County Recorder Justine Whitney, the names of only two carpenters, three plumbers and two painters are found.

Ranchers to the number of 50 have set out on the matrimonial sea since January 1 and the laborers who have become married number in the neighborhood of 25. Machinists, who can almost be placed in the same class with plumbers, painters and carpenters so far as wealth is concerned, have been marrying right freely, the number who have taken out licenses being around 35.

One soldier, one sailor and one aviator have blushing or otherwise approached the marriage license clerk since the first of the year. Clerks to the number of 18 have been married in the same period and the record also gives the names of 15 actors, motion picture and otherwise.

Although building contractors have been busy during the past few months, 12 of them found time to get married, and oil workers to the number of 14 have also taken out licenses.

Up to and including today 359 licenses have been issued this year in Orange county, as compared to 229 for the same period in 1919. The increase is attributed to the fact that last year at this time many men of marriageable age were in France and had just about given up hope of ever giving the Statue of Liberty "the up and down" again.

WIRELESS TO GUIDE BORDER AIR PATROL

WASHINGTON, Mar. 19.—In order to reduce the danger of American air service pilots accidentally flying over Mexican territory or becoming lost while on border patrol duty, the commander of the 91st Aero Squadron stationed temporarily at Ream Field, Imperial Beach, Cal., has had every plane of the squadron equipped with a radio set with a wave length of 377 metres, which is the best wave length to dodge interference. All pilots are required to check their position every five minutes.

As a further precaution the radio officer of the 91st Squadron has erected at Ream Field a radio compass station by which readings are taken while planes are sending in their position reports. As the course is almost straight east from Ream Field, the radio officer can tell almost instantly whether a given plane is holding to its proper air line.

Should a pilot become confused, lose or mistake his position and turn south, the radio compass would immediately show that the plane was over Mexican territory.

Berlin Radical Workmen Press War On Noske

WASHINGTON, Mar. 19.—Not all of Washington's social set spend the winter at Palm Beach or Miami, Florida, or in Southern California. Many remain in the capital, and of those who do not go south or west many take part in elaborate social affairs given for charity.

One of the most attractive functions recently was a carnival and ball given for charitable purposes here.

At this big affair six of Washington's most popular debutantes danced together. Critics declared their work was on a par with that of many professional sextets.

The "buds" who staged the dance were Misses Olive Graef, Anna Hamlin, Mildred Bromwell, Cecilia McCallum, Margaret Dunlap and Margaret Harding.

Order was restored by safety police, supporting the Ebert government, who marched down the historic street shortly after 4 p. m. yesterday.

As the marine brigade retreated, a large crowd in Unter Den Linden hooted it and there was some shooting. Safety police who followed the marines, were forced to shoot down the street to clear a passage.

As the safety police progressed down the street a small group of marines appeared and for three or four minutes the shooting was general. Other marines appeared before the Hotel Adlon and fired on crowds there. Heavy firing also was heard in the vicinity of the Brandenburg gate.

Foreigners Periled
The only attempt against the lives of foreigners came early yesterday afternoon when a mob attempted to rush the Hotel Adlon, headquarters of the various foreign missions. The mob was repulsed by guards.

Baltic troops, which had been supporting Von Kapp, left the city yesterday morning. As they passed through Charlottenburg, a mob of the first shots into a meeting of Independent Socialists. Forty persons were reported to have been killed.

The Baltic troops, members of the old Iron Division of General Von Der Goltz, were reported to have marched on to Spandau, where they clashed with radical workmen, killing and wounding several.

Sixteen persons were reported to have been killed in an undetermined explosion in the Charlottenburg Electrical Works.

Remove Barricades
The safety police and other loyal Ebert troops were busy clearing the city last night, removing barbed wire, entanglements and barricades erected by the insurrectionists.

President Ebert, it was said, will not return to the city until after the meeting of the national assembly at Stuttgart, which occurred yesterday. It was thought he would reach Berlin today.

The Ebert government summoned the correspondents to a conference and informed them that all the troops which had supported the insurrection had been ordered out of the city. Loyal troops will assume all guard work at that time.

A strong demand has been made by radical workmen for the resignation of Gustav Noske, Ebert's minister of defense, and now in charge of troops here.

COLORADO GALES KILL FOUR

REVOLT HEAD WHEAT CROP SLAYS SELF, IS REPORT DAMAGED BY SAND

German Capital Returning to Normal Conditions, Is Indicated

PARIS, Mar. 19.—General Von Luetwitz, military leader of the Monarchist counter revolution, has committed suicide, according to the Kolner Tageblatt. Von Luetwitz resigned simultaneously with Dr. Wolfgang Kapp, chancellor of the short-lived monarchist government, and fled from Berlin Wednesday night.

BERLIN, Mar. 19.—Violent fighting between crowds of workmen and Von Kapp soldiers marked the evacuation of the capital by the insurrectionary military forces.

Several persons were killed and many others wounded in the vicinity of the Hotel Adlon yesterday afternoon as the Ehrhardt marine brigade, the backbone of the revolutionists' military power, evacuated the Wilhelmstrasse.

Order was restored by safety police, supporting the Ebert government, who marched down the historic street shortly after 4 p. m. yesterday.

A strong demand has been made by radical workmen for the resignation of Gustav Noske, Ebert's minister of defense, and now in charge of troops here.

Noske's position apparently will be difficult, when Dr. Von Kapp and General Luetwitz fled from Berlin Wednesday night the democrats immediately called the strike, declaring it had served its purpose in defending the insurrection. The central strike committee of the independent socialists refused to accede and issued a proclamation declaring the strike must continue with unabated vigor. The fight now goes against the militaristic butcher of workmen as well as our democratic betrayers," the proclamation said.

Probably Noske
The "militaristic butcher" referred to presumably was Noske. Leaders of the independent socialists were said to have agreed to the strike committee's proclamation.

The demand of the Lefts for continuance of the strike was considered most serious, as it was believed aimed directly at the Ebert government.

Disorders also were reported in Stettin and violent fighting in parts of Thuringia.

Railways Halted as Giant Storm Sweeps Over Colorado

DENVER, Mar. 19.—The worst windstorm over Colorado since 1901 caused four deaths and damaged property in a score of cities and towns, according to reports received here today.

Sandstorms halted Colorado and southern trains between Cheyenne and Denver and snowdrifts thirty feet high completely blocked the Moffat railway.

Northwestern Colorado's winter wheat crop was badly damaged by sand which drifted like snow.

The wind reached a velocity of 64 miles an hour in Denver and 74 miles in Cheyenne.

WOMAN HAMMERS NEW NAIL INTO SORORITY HOUSE COFFIN, VIEW

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, March 19.—Another nail was driven into the sorority house coffin here when Miss Harriet Bradford's report as dean of women at Stanford was made public.

It attacks the sorority house as a breeder of undemocratic castes. She says that "close observation for three years" has convinced her that she is "a witness to the growth of exclusive and undemocratic castes within the university which the founding grant says 'it is the duty of the university authorities to prohibit'."

The report reopened a bitter controversy here which reached its height when the president recently announced sorority and fraternity houses would be banned.

FAVORABLE REPORT BY SENATE BOARD

WASHINGTON, Mar. 19.—The senate foreign relations committee today ordered a favorable report on the nomination of Bainbridge Colby to be secretary of state.

Several members of the committee stated that they would not be bound by the favorable report to vote in the senate in favor of confirming Colby.

Today's action disposed of objections raised against Colby on various grounds, the exact nature of which the committee declined to make public. There was never any formal charge filed against Colby.

South Outdistanced As County G. O. P. Raises Drive Fund

The finance committee of the Republican Party in Orange county is the first county finance committee in Southern California to raise its quota for campaign purposes.

Yesterday, N. T. Edwards, of Orange, chairman of the special finance committee, reported to the Southern California headquarters of the Republican State Central Committee that Republicans of this county had signed up for $3915. The county's quota is $3900. A few more reports are still to be made to Edwards.

Half of the money pledged is to be used for national Republican campaign purposes, and half is to go to local purposes, to be used in furthering the candidacy of Republican nominees. Edwards said today that he expects to turn over to the Republican County Central Committee whatever has been collected over and above the fifty per cent that he has turned into the state committee.

WOMAN'S SHOT HALTS S. A. BAD CHECK ACTION

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 19.—A shot fired by a woman halted a bad check action in Los Angeles today.

Jose Dalo, 20 years of age, of Los Angeles, who was to have appeared before Judge Z. B. West in the Orange County Superior Court today for arraignment on a charge of passing a number of altered no fund checks on Anaheim merchants in January, was not present and the case may never come to trial.

Dalo is in the County Hospital at Los Angeles today suffering from three bullet wounds received yesterday following a dispute over change for a $20 bill. He is expected to die.

Dalo and Dominico Gays were arrested at Anaheim on January 17 and at their preliminary hearing before Justice Howard of that city were held to answer to the Superior Court. Dalo was released on $1000 bail. Gays was unable to furnish bail and is being held at the county jail. He was arraigned today. Attorney E. M. Torchia, of Los Angeles, representing the two men, told Judge West of the circumstances surrounding the shooting of Dalo.

According to Torchia, Dalo was shot by Mrs. Maria Esposito, 23 years of age, landlady of a hotel, following the dispute over change. After Dalo had been shot three times by the woman he took the gun from her and shot her through the stomach. She is also expected to die.

Judge West postponed the arraignment of Dalo indefinitely.

ARNSTEIN AROUSES N. Y. PAPER'S HUMOR

NEW YORK, Mar. 19.—Guesses and surmises and outlandish revelations concerning "Nicky" Arnstein, who got $5,000,000 worth of notoriety by skipping out when some racketeer called him the "master mind" of the Wall Street bond theft conspiracy, were about as follows one day recently, according to a local paper:

WILLIAM J. FALLON ("Nicky's counsel")—I think he got scared when he heard three detectives were after him and beat it from where he was hiding. He's very temperamental and shy of policemen.

JOHN DOOLING (Assistant District Attorney)—I don't know where he is, but I hope to capture him.

EDWARD SWANN (District Attorney)—Those handcuffs and chains and the patrol wares are still waiting for him.

PATIENCE WORTH (in a outjape)—His first name is Nicky, therefore he's very elusive.

A BARTENDER (3.50%)—It's a pipe he's either in Canada or Cuba.

FANNY BRICE (his bride)—A schmart boy, Nicky! A schmart boy!

THE POLICE (as always)—Important developments are expected within forty-eight hours.

THE NAVY DEPARTMENT (special)—The Marines have landed and have the situation well in hand.

MOVES TO LOS ANGELES

BREA, Mar. 19.—Mrs. James Pickering, who for several years has been very prominent in P. T. A. circles in Brea, recently severed her connections to join her husband who is now in business in Los Angeles. On a recent date she was tendered a farewell reception by her co-workers.

FAILURE TO RATIFY WILL PUT NEXT PAC MOVE UP TO WILSON

WASHINGTON, March 19.—A resolution formally returning the Treaty to President Wilson with notice that the Senate has been unable to ratify it, will be introduced in the Senate immediately after the final Treaty vote if such vote shows the Treaty rejected, Senator Lodge decided today. Lodge said all the Republicans and at least four Democrats would support the resolution. It would require only a majority vote for adoption.

The purpose of the resolution is to put the next move in the Treaty situation up to the President. While waiting for him to act, the Senate leaders said. If President Wilson should not take steps within a reasonable time to bring about peace between the United States and Germany, the Knox resolution would be called up, Senators said.

After disposing today of two amendments to the preamble of the ratifying resolution the Senate settled down to what promised to be a long session of speech-making before the final vote. There was no indication when the vote will occur.

Walsh for Reservation
Senator Walsh, Montana, a strong administration Democrat, announced in a speech that he will vote to ratify with the Lodge reservation.

He said the importance of Article X has been over-estimated as the same results could be attained under other articles. Senator Walsh's speech was counted on by Democrats favoring exceptions of the Lodge reservations to make a deep impression on certain Democrats reported to be wavering.

With all indications pointing to a final vote today on the peace treaty, the senate took up the preamble to the ratifying resolution.

The Lodge amendment was first called. It provides that "a failure on the part of the allied and associated powers to make objection" to the senate's reservations before the American notice of ratification is deposited "shall be taken as a full and final acceptance of such reservations and understandings by said powers."

The preamble as adopted last November, required that at least three allied powers notify the government through diplomatic notes of acceptance of reservations.

Lodge Clause O. K'd
Lodge's amendment was adopted without a roll call and with practically no debate.

As soon as Lodge's amendment was adopted, Senator Brandegee called up his amendment to the preamble, which provides that ratification shall not take effect "unless the instrument of ratification shall have been filed within 60 days after the adoption of the reservation of ratification by the senate."

Eleventh hour surveys of the situation by the leaders of all the various factions convinced them, they declared, that nothing can now change a single vote. Senator Hitchcock continued to predict from 40 to 42 votes against ratification.

Hitchcock may ask a vote on unqualified ratification and on the reservations supported last session by the Democrats, and since then accepted by President Wilson.

The resolution of ratification which the senate is expected to vote today or tonight is much different in some particulars from the one prepared by Senator Lodge last November.

That one contained a preamble or resolving clause and fourteen reservations. This time there are 15 reservations. Following is a summary of the more important changes:

Preamble
The provision relating to acceptance of the reservations by the Allies has been changed so that instead of an exchange of notes being required, failure of the other powers to file an objection prior to the deposit of ratification by the United States shall be taken to mean acceptance.

A provision drafted by Senator Brandegee, Connecticut, an "irreconcilable," has been added. It requires the president to deposit notice of ratification within 60 days after the senate acts, in order to make ratification effective.

Article X
A substitute was adopted for the original Lodge reservation on Article X. It differs from the original in that, after stating that the United States assumes no obligation to protect other nations against aggression, it enumerates the means the United States will refuse to use, including the army, the navy, the economic boycott or other forms of economic discrimination, or American resources. It provides that congress shall have "full liberty of action."

FARM BUREAU TO BOOST COUNTY FAIR DISPLAY

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Mar. 19.—The Executive Committee of the Orange County Fair Association held a meeting in Santa Ana with a special committee appointed by the Farm Bureau. The bureau committee consisted of Dr. Stevenson, Belding and Quigley. The bureau is planning on making the fair a real County Agricultural show, and has appointed sub-committees in every center to work up exhibits.

World Church Meeting
Dr. R. A. McCaughey, state secretary of the Inter-Church World Movement, has consented to come to Huntington Beach at the earnest solicitation of Dr. C. C. Willets, pastor of the Baptist church. Dr. McCaughey will give an illustrated talk at the Baptist church next Sunday evening on the great world movement. Everybody is invited to be present. Dr. Chapin has not yet given held by the Federation of Churches in this city. A union orchestra and chorus will render music.

Current Political Talk
Little groups on the street corners talking politics these days. It is reliably reported that Mayor Joseph Vavra will be a candidate for re-election and that Aldermen Andrews and Manning will also get into the ring. Dr. Chapin has not yet given his consent to run on account of ill health. In case Dr. Chapin does get into the race, A. Onson will probably permit his friends to file his nomination papers. City Clerk C. R. Nutt and Treasurer C. E. Lavering will be candidates for re-election and very likely without opposition.

Taylor New City Marshal
The city council last Monday evening accepted the resignation of Marshal E. E. French, who was recently appointed under sheriff and elected George M. Taylor as city Marshal and street commissioner.

BRADY LOSES 'GOAT' IN LEGION'S DRIVE

Patrolman Joe Ryan, captain of the "L to Z" team in the membership drive which Santa Ana Post, No. 131, American Legion, is now carrying on is going to lead his team to victory if he can, and he is going to make Arthur Brady, captain of the other team, help him if he can. The fact is, Brady has already helped Ryan sign up several members and this is beginning to get on Brady's nerve.

Brady declared today that Ryan got his "goat" yesterday afternoon. It happened this way. Ryan was standing at the corner of Fourth and Main streets watching traffic, and also with a weather eye out for possible membership candidates. During a lull in traffic Ryan gathered in a member, but when it came time to filling in the application blank Ryan discovered he was without a pencil.

Brady furnished the pencil. Incidentally he scratched from his list of prospects the name of the man Ryan had just signed up with his pencil.

The drive for members will continue until the next meeting of the organization on the third Thursday in April. The losing team is to entertain the winning team and new members with a "feed."

Both Ryan and Brady report many new members, but they are not giving out figures for publication.

FIGHT STARTED COUNTY FARM'S TO GET TARIFF UPON BEANS

Since its bean crop is one of its big crops, Orange county people are deeply interested in a fight that has been started in an effort to get congress to put a tariff of four cents a pound on beans.

The fight has been taken up vigorously by the California Bean Growers' Association, which handles bean crops grown in northern and central portions of the state.

This association has been meeting this week at Sacramento, J. V. Monahan, president of the association, declared that unless the ways and means committee of the House of Representatives approves the plea of the bean growers of the country to place a tariff of four cents a pound on beans to meet the competition of Oriental producers, the bean industry of California is doomed.

VALENCIAS BE SOLD SOON

This year Orange county will have an income of $8,000 or $9,000 from its Valencia orange crop.

The farm has an orchard of 6-year-old Valencias that is as pretty an orchard as can be found in the county today. The trees have had excellent care, and are uniform throughout. The trees are all well loaded, and the fruit is in fine shape. The superintendent, Dr. H. E. Zaiser has asked the Santiago Citrus Growers' Association, through which the county markets its oranges, to pick the county's crop early in the season.

There are 988 Valencia trees in the orchard, making about thirteen and a half acres. Last year 1600 young trees were set, making seventeen acres additional set to Valencia.

Just at present the trees have a fine cover crop growing. Dr. Zaiser expects to have this turned over soon.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 10c and 25c.

Disarmament

A substitute for the original Lodge reservation was adopted. It provides that the United States will not be bound by any plan of disarmament until congress accepts it, and reserves the right to increase armaments if the United States is invaded or engaged in war.

The Lodge reservation on voting power in the league was changed to provide that until the league covenant is amended so that no other country with its colonies casts more votes than the United States, this country will not be bound by any league decision in which any other country and its colonies cast more than one vote.

Ireland

This is a new reservation, just

AMUSEMENTS

A MARVELOUS MARKSMAN

Very few actors would allow themselves to be shot at with 30-30 steel bullets unless they were certain that the man handling the gun was a perfect marksman. For that reason most moving picture directors engage noted marksmen especially to do the shooting. But William Farnum does all the shooting himself and he ably demonstrated his great skill with a gun in one of the intensely dramatic scenes in his William Fox production, "Wings of the Morning," directed by J. Gordon Edwards, which will be seen on March 21 and 22, at the Yost Theatre.

INCOME TAX MEN BUSY CLEARING UP DETAILS

Deputy Income Tax Collectors E. B. Burns and L. A. Desmond are still busy at the local office clearing up details of the work, following the close of the paying period last Monday.

Burns has been called into the office in Los Angeles, where he probably will be engaged in audit work for some time.

Santa Ana was made a regular service station of the income collecting department last September, which means that a representative of the department will be available at the office most of the year round.

Desmond will remain here while Burns is in the Los Angeles office.

Readjustment of reports made in 1917, 1918, and the current year are requiring some little attention.

Burns suggests that Orange county people discovering errors in their reports make the facts known here instead of writing into the Los Angeles office. The correction can be made here easier and with greater dispatch than in the Los Angeles office.

The local deputies are more familiar with the conditions here and investigations can be made more readily, thus saving time and annoyance to the parties reporting the errors as well as to the office force in Los Angeles.

A careful audit of all reports are made in the Los Angeles office, and where there are glaring inaccuracies parties making them are called upon to explain. Investigations consume much time and entail considerable work.

Embarrassment and confusion may be saved by local people if they will go over their "work sheets," which they are supposed to have retained, and if they find discrepancies take the matter up with the local deputies at once.

SANTA ANANS ATTEND FUNERAL OF PASTOR

A number of Santa Ana people, headed by Rev. J. G. Kennedy of the First United Presbyterian church, attended the funeral services in Los Angeles yesterday afternoon for Rev. Edwin C. Little, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church of that city, who was killed Monday when run down by an automobile. Most of the United Presbyterian churches of Southern California were represented at the services. Rev. Little spent two weeks in Santa Ana in February, assisting Rev. Kennedy in an evangelical campaign, all made many friends here.

Rev. Kennedy who had just completed a similar campaign with Dr. Little in Los Angeles, delivered the invocation. The scripture was read by Rev. H. M. Jamieson of Riverside and prayer was offered by Rev. J. W. Ashwood of Pasadena. Rev. T. D. Edgar of Wilkinsburg, Pa., a lifelong friend of Dr. Little, delivered the final address. Burial was made in Inglewood.

A. E. Grennan, driver of the automobile under which Dr. Little met his death, was exonerated from all blame for the accident by a coroner's jury in Los Angeles Wednesday.

FOR JEWISH RELIEF

Once upon a time there was a certain Samaritan who found one who had fallen among thieves, stripped of his raiment, wounded and half dead; and the Samaritan went to him and bound up his wounds, pouring in oil and wine, and set him on his own beast, and brought him to an inn, and took care of him; and the Samaritan was of the orthodox faith of Israel; but he asked not if the man was Jew or Gentile.

Jew Baiting has been a favorite policy of governments, peoples and persons ever since Babylonian captivity. Sometimes the prejudice has been racial; frequently that of religious bigotry and occasionally the result of economic cross purposes. But it has been a fact that in all great convulsions of human passions the Jew suffered most poignantly. His condition consequent upon the world war has been no exception. In the Near East, where the hatred of contending races raged fiercest, the Jew has suffered more than any of the others, because every man's hand was against him, while his own was against no man's. The Armenians have been slaughtered by the ruthless Turk, but the Armenian was able to die fighting; the Jew was utterly helpless, unorganized, completely at the mercy of every foe. Now he is starving because all charity is withheld from him, even by those who are appealing themselves for the world's succor. The traditional antipathy animates the non-Jew of Eastern Europe as bitterly in adversity as when it is armed with the power to strike and destroy. The Jew of that unhappy region is a thing apart and wholly defenseless—naked to his multitude of enemies, and crying for help.

America, as ever, is the hope of the oppressed, and this appeal is directed to us. It is a creedless call; it is the cry of human suffering from the throat of a persecuted, perishing people. It is not a call for armed intervention or league statesmanship to provide the opportunity of self-determination; it is not a political demand for a Protectorate or an overlordship—it is the hungry moan of babes bereft of sustenance, the wailing of women for food, the hoarse pleading of men once strong now weak with long fasting. Shall this awful cry go unheeded in rich, generous, hospitable, justice-loving America?

It is no ordinary "drive" that will begin in Southern California on March 23. It is a heart-rending demand upon the substantial sympathies of a great people who have never yet closed their hearts or their purses to the needs of their fellow creatures, irrespective of race, creed or condition. This appeal will not go unanswered, and it will be answered far beyond the limit of asking. Santa Ana and Orange county will surely give more than the quotas apportioned to this city and county, respectively, by the American Jewish Relief Committee.

AIR SUPREMACY

Britannia, not content with ruling the wave, seems determined to rule the air. Certainly her present activity points in that direction.

The British government is doing far more today to develop aviation than any other government in the world, perhaps more than all the rest together. It is keeping up and improving its aerial war craft, as a matter of course; but it is devoting its main efforts to commercial development. There is an "air ministry," working with a liberal appropriation, which is doing all in its power to stimulate manufacture and help in the adaptation of air craft to commercial purposes. It co-operates with private enterprise in every imaginable way, and has already set up a system whereby aviators are provided with complete maps and information regarding weather, altitude, soil, nature of surrounding country, landing places, airdromes, hotels, etc., in every place where an airplane is likely to go.

Back of it all is a frankly declared military purpose. England has learned her lesson from the war. British experts are convinced that mastery of the air will soon be of more importance than mastery of the seas, and they hold, logically enough, that air supremacy in war will be built on commercial development in time of peace.

Such supremacy, Americans will readily agree, should belong to the Anglo-Saxon race. But why should it belong to the other great branch solution.

of the race? Why not to America, which created the airplane? Or if America has no desire for supremacy, why not at least develop our air power, as we are preparing to develop our sea power, to equality with Great Britain's?

CONGRESS 'DRY' BOSS

Light on the status of prohibition has been given by Judge Reilstab of the federal district court of New Jersey. Passing on a plea for an injunction restraining federal officials in that state from enforcing the Volstead act, Judge Reilstab not only refused the injunction but gave an opinion clarifying the authority of Congress over the various states in this matter.

The federal amendment grants to the federal government and the various states "concurrent" power to enforce prohibition. This has made trouble already, and has led to the New Jersey legislature enacting a law to legalize 3 1/2 per cent beer, in defiance of the congressional law setting 1/2 of one per cent as the maximum alcoholic content.

Judge Reilstab declares that the will of Congress is supreme, that the states are not obliged to enact any special prohibition enforcement laws of their own to supplement the federal law, but that if they do, theirs must harmonize with the federal law.

"If the state enacts legislation," he says, "whether under the Eighteenth Amendment or in pursuance of its police power, and it authorizes or permits the doing of something already forbidden by acts of Congress, as the state of New Jersey has done, such authorization or permission will be rendered unlawful ab initio by such contrary determination of Congress, and will afford no protection to any who violate the congressional statute."

In putting the prohibition amendment into practical effect, he explains, "Congress alone of all the legislative bodies must take the lead, and its leadership, when assumed, dominates."

This interpretation would seem to settle the matter for New Jersey, and for New York and other states that have been planning to follow New Jersey's example. The final determination, however, rests with the United States Supreme court, and the decisive opinion may be expected from that body this month or next. In the meantime, state legislatures and eager brewers may as well take no chances on any overturning of federal authority in behalf of alcoholic "state's rights."

The French bride that an Iowa soldier brought home with him seemed to show signs of insanity soon after her arrival. It developed that the only thing wrong with her was the shock it gave her thrifty soul to see how extravagant an American household is run.

The railroad employees say they object to the public passing on their demands, because "the public would be hostile." Wouldn't it be just about as reasonable for a political candidate to object to the public passing on his candidacy, on the ground that it might vote against him?

Baker's Extravagance

Riverside Press
After selling thousands of trucks for almost nothing in France and storing thousands in this country for future wars, the war department is right now buying seventy-five more at a cost of nearly $600,000. Colonel Winthrop S. Wood, director of purchase for the quartermaster department in France, astonished the House subcommittee looking into foreign service expenditures by saying that 75 "military" trucks for 155 millimeter guns were ordered bought by Secretary Baker on January 20 for $7,700 each.

"Then why on earth did we dispose of our trucks abroad?" asked Representative Bland. "And don't you know that we have a lot brought back and that more are coming back? We had trucks in France to haul our 155 millimeter cannon; why did we need this new lot?"

The witness did not know that there was any need. His duty was to obey orders.

Lazy? Not at All!

Riverside Press
Jerome K. Jerome said that he read a patent medicine advertisement once which gave the symptoms of liver complaint, and one of the symptoms was, "A total disinclination to work of any kind." Then, for the first time in his life, Jerome declared, he knew what was the matter with him. He had always thought it was laziness, but now he knew it was liver complaint.

Now the medical fraternity has a new name for it. The doctors call "encephalitis lethargica." It seems that this preference for resting rather than working, or fishing rather than figuring, arises because a man is not working at the right job. When he finds his own real job, the symptoms will disappear and he will be cured.

Of course, if he is too far gone with encephalitis lethargica, he will make no effort to save himself, but will drift slowly and inevitably down the wasted years to final dissolution.

There is a chosen job for every sufferer from this disease if he will but search until he finds it; and when he can work strongly and vigorously at the job for the job's sake, not for what it provides in food and raiment, he will be cured.

In the Public Eye

Government by Consent

An interesting and enlightening editorial from the San Diego Union is reproduced below. It is interesting and enlightening because it summarizes and analyzes anti-prohibition activities, indicating that "prohibition by federal amendment" is on trial in the law courts as to its constitutionality and is to be placed on trial at the polls in the November national election.

Few will doubt that all this fuss and fury has its source and inspiration among the wets; but it must in fairness be admitted that the question as to the "consent of the governed" is fairly raised, and is to some extent at least sincerely the basis of the opposition to the enforcement of the Volstead act.

The Declaration of Independence promulgated by representatives of the English colonies in America stands in very much the same relation to the governmental processes of this country as does the Magna Charta of England itself to the policies of that country. The Declaration is an enunciation of fundamental principle upon which we have erected our Constitution and the entire fabric of our government.

A basic formula of American democracy is contained in the second paragraph of the Declaration, which proclaims that all men are endowed with the unalienable rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness; and that "to secure these rights governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed."

When the eighteenth amendment to the constitution was enacted congress proceeded in a technically legal manner to that end, assuming that the consent of the governed had been embodied in the legislatures of the various states, neglecting to take into account that twenty-six of these states had withdrawn from their legislatures the power of final legislation by placing it directly in the hands of the people through the referendum, whenever a specified portion of the citizenship might deem such revision necessary or advisable.

When the Volstead act was in process of enactment for enforcement of the eighteenth amendment a clause was inserted providing for "concurrent power" and action by the states, thereby conceding to the states the right of consent.

This is now the issue which the people of the United States have undertaken to decide for themselves in the courts of last resort and at the ballot box irrespective of the delegated consent of their representative legislatures.

The New Jersey legislature has challenged the authority of congress under the "concurrent power" clause of the amendment; a federal district court in Wisconsin has upheld the validity of a state law in contravention of the Volstead act; the New York assembly has voted to investigate the methods and workings of the Anti-Saloon League; town elections in Massachusetts and Vermont show an overwhelming sentiment in opposition to the amendment and its process of enforcement; The Democratic state convention of New York has declared that "we are unalterably opposed to prohibition by federal amendment," thereby forcing the issue into national politics.

Nothing of all this is for or against the specific question of prohibition or anti-prohibition. It is a steady, growing determination of the citizens of the United States to retain and exercise their unalienable right of consent to the end that only just powers shall be derived by the government which they have instituted. The people are carrying the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act to the polls for the purpose of determining whether the constitution of the United States can be revolutionized, the police powers of the states destroyed, the personal habit of American citizens regulated from Washington and elementary rights denied by statute without consulting the citizens themselves. It is no longer a "moral" issue; it is a political proposition.

Worth While Verses

WHEN MY SHIP COMES IN.

Summer and winter are one to me,
And the day is bright, be it storm or shine,
For far away, o'er a sunny sea,
Sailes a treasure vessel, and all is mine.
I see the ripples that fall away
As she cleaves the azure waves before;
And nearer, nearer, day by day,
Draws the happy hour when she comes to shore.
"But what if she never comes," you say,
"If you never the honor, the treasure gain?"
It has made me happier, day by day,
It has eased full many an aching pain;
It has kept the spirit from envy free,
Has dulled the ear to the world's rude din.
Oh! best of blessing it's been to me,
To look for the hour when my ship comes in.

For Good Measure

By the Editor

Did you ever see a great ice-bound river break up in the early spring? Some of you have, most of you have not. It is a wonderful sight—grand, beautiful, fearful, awful! Here is a description that comes in a letter from a friend in the east:

"The river's melting from its winter's sleep had been arrested by a belated cold wave. The river valley for miles was filled with heaped-up masses of broken ice, great slabs thrown on each other in gigantic confusion. There came a few days of warm sun and brisk wind from up the valley. One moment the mass lay there, blinking its blues and whites and muddy streaks against the sun, apparently permanent and immovable. The next moment the whole mass was alive, moving quietly, slowly at first, but ever gaining in speed and power.

"The heretofore unbroken fields of smooth ice in the broad basin at the river's mouth began to be torn, ground up into huge chunks like the others. Masses a foot and a half thick, hundreds of square feet in area, were lifted and separated from the field as easily and quietly as a man lifts the flap of an envelope with a paper knife. One moment there was a broad, smooth white field. The next moment there was a churning mass of ice grinding its way out through the river's mouth into open water.

"As quietly as it had begun, the movement stopped, balked by a stronger field beyond than any yet encountered. A few hours later, pushed by the mounting pressure of the current behind, aided by melting sun and urging wind, this, too, would break, and a brown swift stream be flowing between its banks.

"The people who were watching it were disappointed when the movement stopped. They joked a bit about 'giving it a start with a good stout pole.' They had work to do and could not remain to see the final break-up. But nature took no account of human arguments or curiosity. She took her calm and impressive time.

"There was force and pressure on a scale which dazed the imagination. But there was no fuss, no ferment, no impatience. There was only the calmness, the quiet, of stupendous forces moving to great ends.

"Just before former secretary Franklin K. Lane retired from office he issued a call to state governors and influential organizations to attend a conference in Washington during the week of March 22 and arrange for the celebration of Flag Day next June as 'Neighbors' Day.' Mr. Lane feels that the people of the United States are drifting away from neighborliness—that we are not keeping up our community life as we should.

'Neighbors' Day should appeal to the hearts of the American people which are at bottom sound and fine and have never lost a love for the old-fashioned virtues. It should not be a difficult matter to arouse an interest in neighborliness where it has seemingly disappeared. It is not really dead in any American community, whether congested or wide-scattered; it is just sleeping, drugged with hurry and the pressure involved in making of a living.

In community interest there is a public safety and individual security. A common cause, a common interest, is the strongest bond which can hold people together, be it in the family or the world outside.

The idea of Neighbors' Day is worthy of the good citizen who suggested it, and it should be the occasion of bringing the good citizens of all communities more closely together. And while we are waiting for the day itself, we might get in practice by trying a little plain, old-fashioned neighborliness every day.

Mrs. Catherine Sellin, of Kane, Pa., hale and hearty at 95, gives advice to girls of the new generation on the question of health. "To attain sound health and long life," she says, "a girl must observe these simple rules. She must eat slowly, breathe deeply, get plenty of sleep, never expose her throat in cold weather by wearing these modern low-necked dresses, and she must not wear high heeled shoes."

Good enough advice, very likely—but what chance is there of its being followed? The venerable Mrs. Sellin, we fear, is a back number. Every slip of a girl nowadays knows a heap more than any grandmother or great-grandmother can possibly have learned in a long life of experience and observation.

Another thing that Mrs. Sellin recommends is exercise, particularly digging in the soil. "The best thing in the world for a woman's health is to put on loose overalls and work around in the garden."

The very idea! Can anybody see, even in his mind's eye any present-day girl doing so perfectly outrageous a thing as working in a garden? Not that the modern girl is adverse to exercise—but she prefers to take it in a dance hall.

One thing this old-fashioned adviser spared the girls. She did not specifically recommend dish-washing as many a doctor has done, as an aid to health, beauty and longevity. If she had, she would have met the obvious retort, "What are electrical dish-washers for, anyhow?"

LUCIEN A. SWEET SPEAKS FOR OUIJA BOARD AND FOR COMMUNICATION OF SPIRITS.

Editor Register: I notice of late many articles relative to the ouija board, telling of its dangers and saying that efforts to suppress its sale in the state of California will be undertaken at the next session of the legislature.

I am a firm believer in modern spiritualism. I was converted to this belief more than twenty-eight years ago, and it was the simple movement of a planchette that brought the first message that set me to investigating.

What the average person wants is facts, or knowledge. He is not satisfied with what someone tells him. He wants proof—not faith, but proof. He wants to know that things are thus and so, proven by knowledge obtained through one or more of the five physical senses. The ouija board is of much value, as it is probably the most simple instrument that can be operated by a spirit. It simply opens a way for a person to investigate further. There is no question but that the absolute proof of spirit return will be proven to anyone who takes the time and goes to the expense to make a thorough investigation.

I have been to spiritualist camp meetings. I have mingled with thousands of spiritualists in meetings and in private life in four or five states; and I have yet to know of a person that went insane over spiritualism. But I have known several that have gone insane over the fear of a hell, into which they are to go into everlasting fire prepared for the devil and his angels.

We spiritualists believe in a natural life and a natural birth into a higher life, each person preserving his individuality. That is to say, if you pass into the astral sphere undeveloped you will be in a state of undeveloped there, but the chances for development are better there than here. If your life is pure here, you will attract the good and pure to you from the other side. If you are undeveloped here you will attract the undeveloped from the other side.

Every time an article is written about a ouija board or a minister preaches a sermon against Spiritualism or a sleight-of-hand performer gives a show trying to expose Spiritualism, business places sell more ouija boards than ever and Spiritualism gets a great big ad. My advice to people is to do their own thinking and look for the truth. LUCIEN A. SWEET, 1080 West Fifth Street.

After the Show

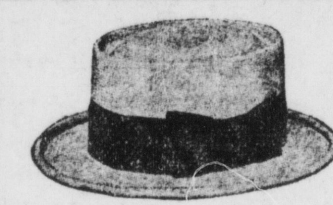

"After the show" you want a little something to eat or drink, and to sit down and talk it over with your friends; discuss the fine points of the actors, criticize when you feel like it, and arrange plans for the next theater party.

At such a time, your steps should lead you to James, for here you may enjoy a tastily prepared luncheon or cooling drink, rest, and discuss the show to your heart's content. Whether you attend the matinee or evening performance, James' is at your service in the "after the show" hour.

And a nice box of chocolates, as you go out, will put the finishing touch on an afternoon or evening of enjoyment.

Three Guests Honored

A very pretty St. Patrick's party was given yesterday by Mrs. David Meyer at her home, 410 West Santa Clara avenue, at which her sister, Mrs. Theo. Meyer, who recently came here from Mitchell, South Dakota, and who is now living on South Broadway, was an honored guest. Mrs. Sarah Davlin, whose eighty-third birthday it was, and Mrs. E. O. Dressel of Washington, a niece and house guest of the hostess, also sharing in the honors of the occasion.

White roses were tastefully used in the decorations, real Irish shamrock being scattered upon the table and appearing on the curtains, in recognition of St. Patrick's Day.

A large white birthday cake with green trimmings and candles was presented to Mrs. Davlin, who happily blew the candles out, one by one, making a wish for each.

Ice cream with little green flags sticking in it, and cake were served as refreshments. The place cards were in the form of small green hats and marked places for twenty.

The guests included many of the old-time South Dakota friends of Mrs. Theo. Meyer, as well as those with whom she has become acquainted since coming to Santa Ana.

Guessing games were the chief diversion of the afternoon, occasioning much amusement.

Gives Chicken Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Lentz charmingly entertained with a chicken dinner last evening at their home on North Spurgeon street, honoring Mr. and Mrs. George Lentz, parents of the host, who have been in Pasadena for the last six months and who are coming here to live. They are well known here and will be heartily welcomed as permanent residents.

Cherokee roses appeared on the beautifully appointed table and covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. George Lentz and two sons, Robert and Edgar Lentz, E. T. Langley, father of the hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Brown and baby and the hosts and two children.

"Music concluded the pleasant affair."

W. C. T. U. Is to Meet

"Some of our good temperance people have an idea that since we now have national prohibition, there is nothing more to do," said Mrs. G. Hill, president of the Santa Ana W. C. T. U. "The returns from the recent elections in some of our eastern states should soon dispel such thoughts."

"This is really the most critical year in the history of the movement, and we must see that what has been gained shall not be lost."

"There is important work to do right here and now in Santa Ana and all members and former members of the W. C. T. U. as well as any one else interested in 'keeping on the job' are urged to attend the next meeting of the Union, next Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. at the W. H. Thomas home, 425 West First street."

"A National and World Outlook" will be presented by Dr. Henry W. Bromley, the evangelist, and H. A. Backemeyer will sing.

"Future plans of work for Santa Ana will be made."

Mrs. Swales Entertains

Mrs. L. G. Swales of 2115 North Broadway gave a dainty luncheon on Thursday. Those present were Mrs. J. N. Bartholomew, Mrs. W. E. Otis, Mrs. John Clarkson, Miss Muir and Harmon of Los Angeles. The table was decorated in pink and blue.

Jefferson P. T. A. Meets

The Jefferson P. T. A. held its regular meeting Thursday afternoon, March 18, with a large number of mothers present.

A very enjoyable program was given by the children, consisting of songs, folk games, dances and exercises in physical training.

Mrs. Robertson, the president, asked the mothers to attend the City Federation meeting, April 13.

Local Artists' Treat

The only program by home artists given by the Musical Association this year is that to be heard next Tuesday evening at the First Methodist church.

Mme. Manuela Budrow, the Spanish soprano, may in a sense be termed a local talent, as she spent some time in Santa Ana before locating in Los Angeles, and has relatives and many friends here, who will welcome this opportunity to hear her again.

Miss Page has on many occasions delighted Santa Ana audiences with her finished violin playing and Mr. Fraser, pianist, is a popular

THE MORN WAS SWEET

The morn was sweet, as when they journey'd last—
The smoke from cottage tops ran bright and fast,
And every tree in passing, one by one,
Gleamed out with twinkles of the golden sun;
For leafy was the road, with tall array,
On either side of mulberry and bay,
And distant snatches of blue hills between;
And there the alder was with its bright green,
And the broad chestnut, and the poplar's shoot,
That like a feather waves from head to foot,
With ever and anon majestic pines;
And still, from tree to tree, the early vines
Hung garlanding the way in amber lines.

and the convention of the Fourth District of Congress of Mothers at Tustin, April 17.

It was decided to hold the next regular meeting in May, and a nominating committee was appointed.

An interesting report on Americanization Work was given by Mrs. C. T. Smith.

Country Club Dance

Fifteen couples gathered at the Orange County Country Club dance last evening to take part in a most enjoyable evening's entertainment. Iris, Cherokee roses and bridal wreath combined very prettily in the decorations. Chapman's orchestra, as usual, furnished the music.

Honors Eastern Friends

Mrs. Asa Vandermast was hostess yesterday at a daintily appointed five-course o'clock luncheon at her home, 425 South Birch street, honoring a number of eastern guests.

Those present to enjoy the jolly affair were Mr. and Mrs. Short, Mr. and Mrs. Lohr and Mr. and Mrs. George Hartley, of Orange City, Iowa, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Van Wyk, Mrs. Walter Vandermast, Mrs. Standish of Los Angeles, and the hostess, Mrs. Asa Vandermast.

W. R. C. Meeting Yesterday

The regular meeting of the Woman's Relief Corps was held in G. A. R. hall yesterday afternoon with Mrs. Sarah Brown in the president's chair.

Three ladies were elected to become members in the order. Mrs. L. A. Lovett was initiated to membership and four applications for membership were received.

The Relief Corps reported nineteen visits to the sick.

Mrs. Ida Keen of Ransom, South Dakota, who is visiting in Santa Ana, was a visitor of the Corps and gave a few well chosen remarks.

Celebrates 82nd Birthday

Mrs. J. A. Stevens of 510 Cypress avenue entertained yesterday with a delightful birthday celebration in recognition of the eighty-second birthday anniversary of her husband, J. A. Stevens. St. Patrick's motifs were used in the decorations.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Northcross, Mr. and Mrs. Ramsdale, Mr. and Mrs. Picken and two children, and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Stevens.

McKinley P. T. A. Meets

A most interesting meeting of the McKinley P. T. A. was held yesterday afternoon at the school.

Mrs. W. B. Tedford read a very well prepared paper on "Responsibilities of Parents," that was greatly enjoyed. Mrs. Donald Moxley, who recently came here from the east, was present to contribute to the enjoyment of the meeting. Mrs. S. Drake read an instructive paper on "Thrift." Tea and wafers were served at the close of the program.

Ladies' Aid Meets

The first Presbyterian Ladies' Aid Society met Wednesday afternoon at the church, with a good attendance.

The devotional service was led by Mrs. A. M. McDermott, who took for her subject, "Foundations of God." In the business meeting that followed the annual reports of the secretary and treasurer were most reassuring. The society has had a healthy growth during the year, and the financial condition was so encouraging that it was decided by unanimous vote to take up the work of Americanization among the Mexican families of the Fifth street school.

The following are officers of the society for the coming year: President, Mrs. C. H. Baird; first vice-president, Mrs. Chas. Davis; second vice-president, Mrs. G. B. Darnell; secretary, Mrs. Chas. Winans; treasurer, Mrs. Mary Whidden.

The ladies worked at quilting during the afternoon.

League Birthday Jollification

Another of the delightful birthday parties, which the Girls' League has been giving for its members, was celebrated this week at the high school. This was to commemorate the birthdays of the girls born in January, February and March.

About forty girls attended, and games, such as "sticking the pipe in Pat's mouth," were indulged in. A Saint Patrick color scheme was carried out in the refreshments served on a green Shamrock with a tiny birthday candle, also of green, in the center was a cup cake.

After this, little Miss Bobbie Ficken delighted the girls with a lovely little dance. She was accompanied on the piano by Miss Elizabeth Wright.

The good time ended with the singing of the school songs.

Confer Third Degree

Santa Ana Lodge No. 236, I. O. O. F., at their regular meeting last evening, conferred the third degree upon five members. The membership roll shows an increase of fourteen since the first of the year and five new applications were read at this meeting. After the meeting a baked bean supper was served.

The initiatory degree will be conferred at the next regular meeting on the 25th inst., and the present prospects indicate that work in some degree will be put on every week for an indefinite period.

District Meeting Arranged

Clubwomen of the Southern District C. P. W. C., which includes the five southern counties of California, are looking forward to the board meeting and presidents' council to be held at the Nichevaug in Redlands next Tuesday, March 23, beginning at 10 o'clock. Mrs. Robert J. Burdette will be the luncheon speaker, her subject being, "Will You Say Yes or No." Incoming officers will be the special guests of the day.

This interesting meeting will be open to all club women, although reservation for the luncheon must be made by Monday, March 22, with Mrs. C. L. Curtis or Mrs. J. J. Suess, both of Redlands.

Appears in Recital

Miss Jewell Hickox of Santa Ana, appeared in a piano recital at Pomona College the first of this week. Miss Hickox is a daughter of Mable Claire, West of the Department of Music, Pomona College. The recital, which was in the Bridges Memorial Hall of Music, was well attended by members of the college student body and faculty, and by townspeople. Friends from out of town were also in the audience.

Miss Hickox's "Sonata in A" by Scarlatti was unusually well received by the audience.

First Economics Section

Sixteen members of the First Section Household Economics of the Ebell Society were entertained at a one o'clock luncheon yesterday at the home of Mrs. Chas. S. Kendall, 311 Cypress avenue. Mrs. Kendall was assisted by Mrs. J. W. Bishop and Mrs. William Smart. After the dainty luncheon the ladies sewed carpet rags for the day nursery.

For Colds, Catarrh or Influenza

Do you feel weak and unequal to the work ahead of you? Do you still cough a little, or does your nose bother you? Are you pale? Is your blood thin and watery? Better put your body into shape. Build strong!

An old, reliable blood-maker and herbal tonic made from wild roots and herbs, is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This "nature remedy" comes in tablet or liquid form. It will build up your body and protect you from disease germs which lurk everywhere. One of the active ingredients of this temperance alterative and tonic is wild cherry bark with sillingia, which is so good for the lungs and for coughs; also Oregon grape root, blood root, stone root, Queen's root, all skillfully combined in the Medical Discovery. These roots have a direct action on the stomach, improving digestion and assimilation. These herbal extracts in the "Discovery" aid in blood-making and are best for scrofula. By improving the blood they fortify the body against an attack of grip or colds.

Catarrh should be treated, first, as a blood disease, with this alterative. Then, in addition, the nose should be washed daily with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.

Send 10c for trial pkg. of Medical Discovery Tablets or Catarrh Tablets to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

The new models for young men which have just been unpacked at this store are exceedingly desirable.

The styles conform very closely to the new American ideas in men's good clothes. They are very fashionable, indeed, but what is more important still, these new suits have the sturdy American character that sets them apart as absolutely dependable in quality.

This is Kuppenheimer and Styleplus quality.

The run of prices is quite low, not because clothing is getting less expensive but because we are cutting our margin of profit down to the minimum.

MEXICO HOLDS THE DRAINAGE OIL POWER BALANCE DISCUSSED BY FARM CENTER

By RALPH H. TURNER.
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

TAMPICO, Mar. 19.—(By Mail).—When President Carranza issued his recent decree allowing the resumption of oil well drilling under provisional permits, he did more than relieve the tension that had arisen over the Mexican-American oil controversy. He permitted a glimpse into Mexico's future as an oil producing nation.

Mexico's oil resources have barely been scratched, according to authorities in Tampico.

Today Tampico is preparing for another boom. Taking advantage of the opportunity to resume operations, agents of the oil companies here and at Tuxpam are applying to the government for permits, new rigs are being erected in the fields and the influx of new men and materials from the States is under way. At this date it is estimated that at least fifty new wells will be started under the provisional permits. Half of these wells will be in "wildcat," or unproven territory. Herein lies a phase of the Mexican oil situation that has commanded the attention of petroleum capital the world over.

While most of these "wildcat" wells will be drilled within the region of Tampico, the prospect of discovering new pools, together with the ruin of many wells recently by salt water, has drawn the attention of producers to parts of Mexico which hitherto have received scant attention as oil territory.

In the Tampico region, wells will be put down on locations as far as sixty-five miles from the coastline. New development is expected in the State of Tamaulipas; "wildcatting" also is looked for in the states of Nueva Leon and Coahuila, in some instances along the American border.

Due to the involved situation as regards titles, pending the final interpretation of Article 27 of the new Mexican constitution, the new drilling will not be as general as it might be, but that does not prevent the oil operators from "looking around" nor does it prevent speculation as to the extent of the undiscovered wealth which still lies in Mexican sub-soil. In the oil fields of tomorrow, it is stated here, may be included the states of Tabasco and Campeche, along the southwestern dip of the Gulf of Mexico, while at least one millionaire operator is known to have faith in Mexico's west coast, in the states of Sonora and Sinaloa.

Mexican oil? "Why, it's just been touched," declares Tampico, remembering that the combined area of the fields in this region totals less than 150 square miles.

It is estimated that in 1920 Mexico will produce 135,000,000 barrels of oil and that 120,000,000 barrels will be exported. Thus Mexico will fill about 20 per cent of the world's oil requirements.

To achieve this, Tampico must greatly augment her facilities for handling oil. This undertaking already is under way. New pipe lines, storage facilities and other installations are being constructed, or are contemplated, to the value of $50,000,000, U. S. currency. When the new pipe lines are completed, Tampico will have a capacity for handling 520,500 barrels of oil daily from the fields to the water.

On the first of the year, there were 523 steel or concrete storage tanks in the Tampico district, having a total capacity of 24,891,500 barrels. But there are being constructed today forty-six steel tanks, with a capacity of 2,495,000 barrels, and plans have been made for eighty-eight other tanks, with a capacity of 4,840,000 barrels.

All of this is reflected in the present-day spirit of Tampico. It gives an insight moreover, into the Mexico of tomorrow. The industrial world is demanding oil in ever-increasing quantities.

And in the words of a Tampico oil executive, "Mexico holds the balance of power."

INCREASE IN DRIVEAWAYS

As a result of the recent freight car shortage, Hudson and Essex driveaways from the factory at Detroit have averaged 125 cars daily for the past three weeks. Despite the severity of the weather, cars are being driven overland in whole fleets to points as far east as New York and Boston, as far south as Jacksonville, Fla., and as far west as Oklahoma City. The demand from all sections of the country is so heavy that dealers feel that cars must be obtained regardless of the time or effort necessary to secure delivery.

(Special to the Register)

WESTMINSTER, Mar. 19.—The accomplishments of the Farm Bureau in Orange county and the best method for installing drainage systems were clearly outlined in addresses at the Farm Center meeting at the school house last evening.

W. Dean Johnston, president of the Farm Bureau, and W. W. Weir, drainage engineer of the State University, were the speakers.

Johnston told of what the farm bureau is doing through pig clubs, dairy associations, beet growers' associations and drainage. Speaking of the recent visit of Dean Hunt of the College of Agriculture he stated that Hunt was much more interested in the problem of drainage in this section than in the citrus groves of the eastern part of the county, as their problems had been solved and the drainage problem is now being solved.

Johnston announced Farm Advisor Wahlberg's marriage in Bakersfield yesterday and advised that Wahlberg had authorized him to state that if the local farm center would meet once a month he would endeavor to bring them something worth while at each meeting, securing speakers from the outside.

Drainage Problem
Weir spoke on deeper drainage ditches and tiling to remove alkali by keeping the water table low. He declared that he had learned more about drainage in the past year than he had learned in twelve years previous and that there is yet much to learn on this question. According to his statement, 25 per cent more alkali is showing because of excessive irrigation for various crops. Deeper drainage is more necessary where there is alkali than in humid sections.

He asserted that it is necessary to keep the water table so far below the surface that there will be no evaporation. He advocated placing drainage tile at a depth of not less than six feet, with four feet satisfactory in sandy soils. He advised that drainage ditches should be deepened every year until they reach a depth of not less than six feet, with seven and eight feet preferable, as the ditches become settled.

He declared that much tile in this section had been put in too shallow, attributing the cause to the use of ditches capable of making trenches only four and a half feet deep. Tile placed at seven and eight feet give better service. With a tile system six feet deep the pipes can be placed from 300 to 400 feet apart, the distance being governed by the quality of the soil. If placed only three or four feet deep, the lines should not be more than 300 or 400 feet apart. The deeper the tile the further apart they may be laid. Many tile systems pay for themselves in two or three years.

Washes out Fertilizer
In answer to a question as to whether fertilizer is lost through drainage, he stated that some was lost, but that it could be replaced. In Fresno county 30,000 acres that were in orchards and vineyards had reverted to Bermuda grass pasture. The state university is experimenting with 8000 acres of this, putting the tile six feet deep and 315 feet apart.

The problem of getting rid of black alkali is still to be solved, he said, so far has no remedy been found. An experiment of treating forty acres of black alkali soil with sulphuric acid also proved futile.

The evening was opened with a fine program by the pupils of the school. Folk songs and games and the Betsy Ross Cantata had been prepared for an entertainment on Washington's birthday, but the "flu" vacation prevented its being given. The part of Betsy Ross was well executed by Miss Lenora Horner. The whole program reflected much credit on the teachers, Miss Myrtle Culver and Mrs. D. D. Campbell efficiently assisted by Mrs. Orel Hare, and upon all who took part.

A very beautiful rendering of the "Star Spangled Banner" by a group of girls dressed in white who illustrated the song by appropriate gestures, closed the evening's very interesting program.

THEATRICAL MAN IS SUED FOR $15,000

NEW YORK, Mar. 19.—John D. Williams, who produced "The Copperhead," in which Lionel Barrymore starred, brought suit in the supreme court against Arthur Hopkins, well known producer, for $15,000. The suit involves the services of Mr. Barrymore.

Hopkins produced "The Jest," in which, until a few weeks ago, Lionel appeared with his brother John. Williams alleges that Hopkins, on June 1, 1918, agreed to share equally with him, in consideration of his agreement to permit Lionel to leave "The Copperhead," the losses which that production would suffer, and to divide equally the profits from "The Jest." Williams alleges that his losses in "The Copperhead" as a result of Barrymore leaving the cast were $30,000, and that Hopkins has failed to live up to his agreement. In addition to the $15,000, Williams seeks a division of the profits of "The Jest," about the size of which he is uncertain.

SANTA ANA BOYS IN COLLEGE WRESTLING

8 Santa Ana boys are now holders of boxing and wrestling championships at Pomona College. Ed Covington, Charles McClain and Will Houghton all won their events at the athletic benefit in Claremont last Tuesday.

Covington disposed of Papazian without much difficulty in the middleweight wrestling session. The Santa Ana boy bested his opponent in two straight falls; the first time in three minutes and the second in four.

McClain rolled around the mat for ten minutes with Walt Phelps, a light-heavyweight from Riverside. Neither man could touch the other's shoulders to the mat. McClain got the decision on his aggressiveness. Houghton in the middleweight boxing milled three hard rounds with "Doc" Peirsol, and took the decision. This was the feature event of the evening and kept the spectators in an uproar from the first going to the decision. Peirsol had a shade in the first round but Houghton was in much better condition at the finish and his blows were harder and also cleaner.

BLIND MAN'S LOVE POEM WINS BRIDE

RICHMOND, Ind., Mar. 19.—Louis Gardner of Chicago and Miss Genevieve Jamieson of Pershing, this county, were married the other afternoon. Both the bride and bridegroom are blind.

Both were subscribers to a magazine published for the blind and Mr. Gardner was a frequent contributor of verse to the publication. One of his poems, "What is Love," appeared some time ago and brought him many congratulatory letters from his blind readers. Among those who wrote to Mr. Gardner was Miss Jamieson.

The correspondence that resulted brought about the wedding. The Rev. Shelby Lee, pastor of the First Baptist Church in this city, read the service. Mr. and Mrs. Gardner will live in Chicago.

SILVER MINES ARE NOT YET FOUND PROFITABLE

"In spite of the high price of silver, things haven't reached a point of stability which would warrant the reopening of old silver mines in the west and the hunt for new ones," said a western man at a New York hotel the other day. "Colorado is the great silver state, yet the mining of precious metals has fallen off there, as figures for the year indicate. The rise in silver has brought some profit to the mines that produce the white metal as a by-product, and that is about the extent of the benefit to the mining industry so far.

"Even with a guaranteed price, making it profitable to reopen mines long abandoned and to prospect for new silver properties, there never could be a revival of the days when the old silver camps were booming. The glories of such places as Creede and Aspen have passed, never to return, in the old form, at least."

BEACH WOMAN'S CLUB CHAMPION TYPIST
ENTERTAINS ON 26TH SHOWS HER SPEED

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Mar. 19.—The Woman's Club will put on an entertainment in the club rooms, Friday evening, March 26. It is rumored that some noted talent will take part in making this a success. Full details of the big show are not obtainable at this time, but some of the young ladies of the city have been inquiring as to the uniforms worn by captains and later were seen carrying mysterious looking bundles. The women have the reputation of making a big success of all their undertakings and indications are that the big show Friday will be no exception.

Mrs. M. A. McCreery and son, "Bob" were Santa Ana visitors Tuesday.

Entertain S. S. Class

Mrs. W. H. Gallienne entertained the U. and I. Class of the Christian Sunday school Tuesday. The day was spent doing fancy work and in having a general good time. A delicious lunch was served at noon. The following members were present: Mrs. R. E. Marsters, P. W. Elliott, Grover Delapp, B. G. Hall, Ray McCormack, Conrad Worthy, J. F. Catching, L. E. Worthy and the Misses Marie Wardman, Viva Worthy and Zula Elkin.

Andrew Given has purchased a new Chevrolet.

Mrs. Pearl Ames was a Santa Ana visitor Thursday.

Ed Vigen, who has been spending the winter in Sunny California, will return Saturday to his home at Dodge, N. Dak. When asked regarding leaving California, he said: "I've got to go back to cold North Dakota."

A. Vold and family, who have been spending the winter here, are leaving for Seattle, the first step of the trip to their home in Minnesota.

The senior class of the high school enjoyed a party at Orange County Park Wednesday evening. Everyone reports a fine time.

Miss Margaret B. Owens, four times the champion typist of the world, demonstrated before fifty commercial students of the High School. In the first test Miss Owens made 158 words a minute with only one error, but she was not satisfied with this and in a second try, 150 words and no errors, was the result.

During the test, the champion conversed continuously with Mr. Garber and the students. The machine on which the record was made is an old one.

When Miss Owens left school her limit was 42 words and the average student now writes 50, while an expert stenographer makes 100.

Commercial students took the test also. Miss Clara Kellogg made 82 words, no errors, while Miss Martha McCune made 77. Both girls made unusually good records for amateur typists.

The commercial teachers are very proud of the students' records and hope to turn out some "professionals."

The test took place between 2:30 and 3 in room 213 of the commercial building.

THE GRANGER ELECTRIC COMPANY HAS MOVED
TO 317 WEST FOURTH

Today the Granger Electric Co. moved from North Main St. into its new store at 317 West Fourth St., where all modern household electric devices, including the Blue Bird electric clothes washer, will be explained and demonstrated.

The growth of the Blue Bird business has been marvelous. Two main factors are chiefly responsible for this growth. The company decided to produce what they believed to be the best electric washer it was possible to build, and then it adopted the most efficient selling medium—advertising. During the past ten months the Blue Bird Electric Clothes Washer has been probably the most widely advertised electric washer in the world, both in national magazines and the local newspapers. Today the factory payroll contains over 1600 names. There are more than 100 in the executive departments alone, comprising ten highly organized divisions.

Locally the Blue Bird success has been phenomenal. Six weeks ago E. H. Granger of the Granger Electric Co. decided to feature the Blue Bird line in this territory. He became imbued with the Blue Bird "idea" and proceeded to popularize it through the columns of this newspaper and by direct sales efforts. Today there are probably very few housewives in Santa Ana who do not know the Blue Bird. Many of them are its best friends because they own one and appreciate its economy and convenience.

WINDY CITY CONCERN
AIDS HOME BUILDERS

CHICAGO, Mar. 19.—Campaign was begun here among building material men to stabilize prices on all materials used in home building for at least six months. A plea was made also for stabilization of wages. Only by such means could the housing problem be solved, said Edward Hines, head of a lumber company, who announced the movement.

"I am sending circulars to all my trade," Mr. Hines said, "notifying them that the price of lumber will go no higher for six months, possibly a year. I do not mean that it will not be sold lower. Other lumber dealers throughout this section have joined with me in the idea and the brick dealers will do likewise."

"The next thing is to bring about a condition of coherency in the building trades so that the home builder may enter into contracts for homes with some idea of stability. Only through this stabilization of the material and labor market will it be possible to build the thousands of homes necessary."

LAWYERS BATTLE TO GET DEAN CASE JURY

SAN LUIS OBISPO, March 19.—When the trial of Mrs. Myrtle Dean, charged with the murder of her husband, Frank A. Dean, was resumed today, the jury remained still to be completed. Only nine tentative jurors had been secured at the conclusion of the third day of the trial. Mrs. Dean, in her cell at the county jail, warbled like a canary as the court proceedings dragged on yesterday.

It Neutralizes Stomach Acidity, Prevents Food Fermentation, Sour, Gassy Stomach and Acid Indigestion

Doubtless if you are a sufferer from indigestion, you have already tried popsin, bismuth, soda, charcoal, drugs and various digestive aids and you know these things will not cure your trouble—in some cases do not even give relief.

But before giving up hope and deciding you are a chronic dyspeptic just try the effect of a little bisurated magnesia—not the ordinary commercial carbonate, citrate, oxide or milk, but the pure bisurated magnesia which you can obtain from practically any druggist in either powdered or tablet form.

Take a teaspoonful of the powder or two compressed tablets with a little water after your next meal, and see what a difference this makes. It will instantly neutralize the dangerous, harmful acid in the stomach which now causes your food to ferment and sour, making gas, wind, flatulence, heartburn and the bloated or heavy, lumpy feeling that seems to follow most everything you eat.

You will find that provided you take a little bisurated magnesia immediately after a meal, you can eat almost anything and enjoy it without any danger of pain or discomfort to follow and moreover, the continued use of the bisurated magnesia cannot injure the stomach in any way so long as there are any symptoms of acid indigestion.

MEXICANS WILL CELEBRATE ON SUNDAY NEXT

Mexican residents of Santa Ana and vicinity today are anticipating a great time Sunday afternoon when a "Kermesse" or "Jamboree" will be held in Birch Park, starting at 12:30. MAN FREED ON BAIL
COMMITTS SUICIDE

NEWPORT NEWS, Mar. 19.—R. D. Holloway, president of the Vassar-Abbott Company, who was arrested one night recently on charges in connection with the recent failure of the Colonial State Bank here, shot and killed himself the following day after he had been released on bail.

Holloway and Frank R. Bartlett, cashier of the bank, were arrested on a warrant sworn out by Commonwealth's Attorney Berkeley, charging them with the larceny of $15,000 from the bank. They furnished bond in the sum of $15,000 each.

A report of the State Corporation Commission declared that credits of more than $300,000 extended to the Vassar-Abbott Company were responsible for the failure of the bank. Investigation of Holloway's affairs showed he had $79,000 in life insurance, all of which was assigned to the bank.

Strong Friendship Formed In Army Brings Army Officer Here

Attachment for Santa Ana and Orange county men who served under him while members of the 364th Supply Company at Camp Lewis and overseas has brought Capt. Albert Rolling of the company to Santa Ana with a view to locating. He is being given a cordial reception by Santa Ana men, and Tuesday night was the guest of honor at a dinner given by Sergt. Geo. Platt at his home. Guests were Sergts. A. E. Stevens and Robt. Collins and Murray Vandermast and Dr. Jacobs.

Capt. Rolling is the guest of Sergt. A. E. Stevens, who is foreman of the Chas. L. Davis auto repair shop. Stevens and the Captain were "bunkies" overseas, and with other members of the company went through three big engagements at the St. Mihiel, Meuse-Argonne and Ypres-Scheldt offensives. There are about eighty former members of the company in Orange and Los Angeles counties.

Capt. Rolling is a bridge and road structural engineer and hopes to secure a position of some kind in Santa Ana, preferably along the line of construction work. He was engaged in such work at Portland, Ore., for a number of years before the war.

Capt. Rolling has suffered the loss of all his immediate family since going to war and since his return. His father and mother died while he was overseas and his sister, his last relative of his immediate family, died at Portland only a short time ago, double pneumonia being the cause of her death. Many of the Santa Ana and Orange county men were well acquainted with Miss Rolling and will regret sincerely her death.

BISBY GOES NORTH TO LOOK OVER CROP

R. L. Bisby went up to San Luis Obispo yesterday to give the ranch holdings of the W. H. Spurgeon Realty Company the once over and will be absent for the remainder of the week, expecting to return about next Monday.

The company has a fine crop of cherries and almonds in orchards devoted to these and Bisby's trip to the ranch is with a view to making plans for harvesting the crops, work on which will commence in a few weeks.

S. A. WOMAN'S SISTER IS STRUCK BY AUTO

Mrs. A. L. Dearing of Santa Ana received word last night that her sister, Mrs. Hattie Walker, of Los Angeles, was run over early yesterday evening at the corner of Third and Main streets, Los Angeles, and perhaps fatally injured. She suffered a fracture of the skull.

Mrs. Walker was waiting on the corner in front of her home for a car, when the motorcycle struck her. She was taken to the receiving hospital and later to her home. Physicians were to hold a consultation this morning.

Mrs. Walker is well known in Los Angeles, she and her husband, Patrolman Walker, stationed in the P. E. station, pioneers of that city.

C. E. UTT TELLS OF THINGS HE SEES AND LEARNS AT LA PAZ AND TOPOLOBAMPO, MEX.

Around Cape San Lucas, up the Gulf of California, into the city of La Paz, with its scanty agriculture and its great pearl fisheries, across the gulf of Topolobampo, one of the ports of Sinaloa, and inland a few miles to Las Mochis—this is the portion of C. E. Utt's journey to and across Mexico that is presented to Register readers in a letter just received from the well known Tustin citrus orchardist.

Utt has discovered peace and quiet and safety of life and property in Mexico. That sounds impossible. However, the area where this peace and quiet exists is not large, compared to the area where it does not exist.

He tells about it in a letter, which is here published:

LAS MOCHIS, Mex., Mar. 12.—Sunday evening we rounded Cape San Lucas, the southern point of Lower California, the revolving light winking solemnly at us at intervals from the shore, distant perhaps two miles.

Monday morning we awoke to find ourselves sailing north in the Gulf of California over the roughest sea we had yet encountered.

The season of the northwest winds has arrived and while not dangerous, as compared to the chubascos, which, in September and October, sweep up from the south, causing many wrecks, they make navigation disagreeable for

See These New Arrivals

This store has already announced the most complete lines of fine shoes it has presented in several seasons, but if you do not see the fresh Spring numbers that have just come in you will miss the choicest selections of all.

The new arrivals consist largely of one and two eyelet ties and kid pumps. They are without any doubt the most fashionable shoes that money can buy this spring, but they are not the highest priced shoes you can buy by any means.

Before you look at any other shoes at all we want you to come and see these new numbers. We find them hard to describe and we have no illustration exactly like them but they conform to the more slender, American lasts and they're perfect so far as materials, workmanship and fashionable design are concerned.

perhaps thirty miles wide. It is cut off from the gulf by a number of islands forming its northeastern border. The United States has a coaling station on its eastern shore about six miles north of La Paz.

La Paz is located on gently rising ground at the southeast corner of the bay. It is the capital city of the southern district of the Territory of Baja California.

A Carranza governor and Carranza soldiers are stationed here. Vessels approach the town from the north and the impression one receives is rather pleasant. The cocoanut and other palms rising from the patios and small gardens give a suggestion of the tropics, although La Paz is located some fifty miles or more above the Tropic of Cancer, and is in a region of pitifully small rainfall, a veritable desert.

The houses are mostly after the Mexican style of architecture, although a few are American. One thing, however, is truly American—that is the windmills, dozens, yes, scores and scores of them, all American, aeromotors predominating. These windmills furnish the water supply and as there is no other it takes a good many to furnish water for a town that boasts of 6,000 souls, even though the town is not sewered, and drink emporiums are plentiful.

Allowed on Land
After the health officer had looked us over—that is just what he did, and quite casually at that, we were allowed to tie up at the wharf and the customs authorities took charge of the ship, and a guard was kept on board until we sailed at 3 p. m. the following day.

The passengers were allowed to land, and did so as often as they chose. We went ashore that evening in company with Mr. Maerhan of Anaheim, and Mr. McDermott of Santa Ana, who are fellow voyagers with us.

The streets are sufficiently wide, but somewhat irregular as to direction, and instead of being paved with cobble stones, as so many old Mexican towns are, they are paved with slabs of stone dressed and laid so as to give a smoother pavement than cobble stones.

The park or plaza is surrounded by a sidewalk of extreme width and plentifully supplied with benches for the weary to sit and rest. It has the usual kiosk or music stand in the center, where on certain nights the musicians play for the assembled citizenry. Monday night was not one of these times, for which I, for one, was very sorry, for music is one of the very few things at which the Mexican displays excellence.

I had almost forgotten to mention the customary bust of Mexico's great man, Benito Juarez, the Indian, on a large pedestal in the plaza. It is a poor Mexican town that does not have a bronze bust of this patriot.

Mexico boasts several great men.

Little cuts and scratches are aggravating and painful, and they can even become dangerous if infected. Prevent such a condition by cleansing the injured spot well, and then applying RESINOL OINTMENT. Its gentle antiseptic balsams soothe while they heal. A physician's prescription is recommended widely—it is no longer an experiment to thousands who have used it successfully for various skin afflictions. At all druggists.

There is Hidalgo, who started the revolution against Spain, and Morales, who continued it almost to completion when he was executed by the church, and thus became the last victim of the Spanish Inquisition in Mexico. Then there is Juarez and his pupil, Diaz, and finally Madero, who completed the revolution and delivered a child race over to a liberty they can not use and into the clutches of a political banditti less efficient and more avaricious than the oligarchy they have displaced. Some day perhaps I shall write "A Child's History of the Mexican Revolution," beginning with the causes that led up to the occurrence of September 16, 1810, and ending with the abolition of slavery, just now accomplished (subscriptions for the book receivable any time). I am risking this free advertising on the hope that it will get past the editor while he is asleep.

The retail stores, as in most Mexican towns, are largely in the hands of the Chinese, although there are some large Mexican-owned stores. There is a fine municipal building—city hall we would call it—and government buildings, jail and barracks for the soldiers.

Its Pearl Fisheries
La Paz has long been famous for its pearl fisheries. Any one familiar with the pearl business has in mind La Paz as one of the sources of supply. Indeed, it is the chief center of that industry in North America. The pearl fishing fleet employs 600 men and beside using the waters of the gulf, ranges south along the coast as far as Central America.

Formerly, before the invention of diving apparatus, the native diver took a basket attached to a line and a rock to sink him rapidly to the bottom and went down and gathered such oysters as he could in the very short time he could hold his breath and then rose to the surface for air, the oysters being drawn up by the line. I was told that one minute is about the time they can stay down, but I am sure that I read in my boyhood days that trained pearl divers were able to stay under the water three minutes.

This is a matter of no great importance now, for most of the diving is done with modern apparatus whereby the diver can reach much greater depths and stay submerged for considerable periods. The men employed by the master pearl fishers receive about $12 gold per month and their board and ten per cent of all the oysters they gather.

One of the large operators is reported to have recently secured a very fine pearl, valued at $35,000 gold. Pearl dealers from the world's markets keep purchasing agents at La Paz.

Describes Pearl Oyster

I understand that a Frenchman secured a concession from the Mexican government and embarked in the business of growing pearl oysters in the waters near La Paz. I was unable to visit this place and did not learn whether or not the enterprise had proven successful.

The pearl oyster is quite unlike the ordinary oyster, in that its shell is more even and regular—in this respect resembling a clam more than the common oyster. In addition to the pearls obtained from these oysters the shells are sold and largely used for the manufacture of pearl buttons. I understand that they are now worth $75 per ton.

Different estimates were placed on the annual value of the pearls and shell exported, varying from $300,000 to $600,000. Probably $400,000 would not be far from the mark.

Tuesday morning we were told that the boat would not sail until afternoon, so we again invaded the town, my traveling companion taking a number of pictures with his camera.

Four of us hired a Ford and were driven through the town and its environs, out to the wireless tower and a large tannery, and then several miles into the country to the south, a dreary desert, its scant, scrubby desert flora, evidencing a very scanty rainfall.

In the little gardens we saw growing vegetables of many varieties—cocoanut and date palms, oranges and bananas with mangos and other fruits.

Lacking in Flavor

The oranges are of deep color, full of juice and seeds, with a very tough "rag" and like all tropical or near tropical oranges I have ever tasted, sweet and lacking in flavor, and on the whole in nowise comparable to our best grade California fruit. These little gardens are almost all watered by means of windmills, although a very few had very small steam pumps. This very limited agriculture probably does not exceed fifty acres in total area. So

La Paz has practically no commercial agriculture.

Probably, if the Mexican government by some miracle should be able to give guarantees of stability and permanence there could be developed near the southern shores of the bay adjoining La Paz sufficient water to irrigate 2000 or 3000 acres, which, with proper transportation to California markets provided, would bring considerable wealth, as the crops grown would be winter truck crops commanding a high price on account of their seasonal value.

The agricultural wealth of the entire southern district of Baja California, aside from cattle, which live by browsing off brush and cacti is very insignificant and confined to Mule, where they raise and export figs and dates, and Todos Santos and San Jose Del Cabo, where some sugar cane is grown, and pinoche is made and exported. We met two ten-mule teams, laden with pinoche from these places, nearing the completion of a 100-mile haul to market at La Paz.

Order of the Best
Now, I am going to tell you something that will sound like a new edition of Baron Munchausen brought down to date.

The world has come to regard, and very justly, Mexico as a land of disorder and confusion, full of big bandits and little thieves. I had been told by commercial travellers and others, that in the southern district of the peninsula life and property are as safe as in the United States, the revolution has not disordered and disorganized things there as in the balance of Mexico. I was anxious to check up on this information.

I did check up and got what appeared to me sufficient corroboration to go a little further and say that life and property are safer than in Southern California!

I have not time here to examine all these witnesses, but will simply content myself with one. An American, intelligent and for some time manager of a floating cannery which operated along the coast from Magdalena bay to La Paz, who was a fellow passenger on the Mazatlan, assured me that the statements we were making, and that he had had thousands of dollars worth of goods piled up on shore with no protection but a tent for months at a time and not a dollar's worth stolen, although it was near a settlement of perhaps 1,000 souls who knew of the opportunity.

Is there any one who would like to try such an experiment in the Santa Ana Valley?

Plenty of Cattle

Cattle are selling at $15 gold, while on the mainland a little over 100 miles away, they sell for double that amount. The ranges are stocked up to their limit because cattle "rustling" is not a menace to the industry as in Mexico proper, where millions of acres of fine grazing lands lie practically untouched, and, like the other great sources of possible Mexican wealth, are locked up and wasting in the embrace of incompetency.

The Mazatlan east loose her moorings at 3 o'clock, and after passing out of La Paz harbor steered north-east across a rough sea for Topolobampo. The following morning we were rolling outside the harbor awaiting the pilot to come out and take us in. The bar at "Topo" is said to have eighteen feet of water, but several times the lead showed only sixteen feet. There are no good deep water harbors on the West Coast from Guatemala to the mouth of the Colorado.

Topolobampo Bay

The bay at Topolobampo is very deep, but the bar is shallow and shifting. Doubtless there could be built jetties here that would scour the channel to a depth that would permit any ocean-going vessel to enter, but the energies of the government seem to be centered wholly upon itself rather than on national honor and progress.

I said we had to await the coming of the pilot. That is just what one must learn to do in Mexico—wait. Wait, do not worry, there is another day coming, plenty of days. Cortez found this wonderful country waiting and now after 400 years it is still waiting only if possible a little more slowly than formerly; perhaps it is getting tired of waiting.

When we got abreast the wharf in mid-stream we had to wait, the doctor's leisure for inspection before we could tie up at the wharf where our friends were waiting to cart us, off to the land of Las Mochis, eighteen miles inland. We got in at noon, but we had to wait three hours while the inspector took his siesta before we could get our baggage inspected. Finally the inspector, a cream-colored youth of about twenty-one, strolled indolently in and gave our luggage the usual perfunctory glance and passed us free into the land of Manana.

What Mexicans lack in other things they make up in courtesy and politeness, for they are excessively polite. I have never met with anything but courtesy and politeness from any Mexican official.

Seeing Sinaloa

We have travelled many hundreds of miles through the highways and by-ways of Sinaloa, the fishing, exploring and having an enjoyable time. We have secured 150 pictures and much information. We will make Mochis our headquarters for about a week longer and then begin our long journey south to Yucatan, and hope occasionally to find time for a short letter to the Register concerning some of the things which seem interesting to us.

EVANGELIST IS SPEAKER AT HIGH SCHOOL ASSEMBLY

The students of the high school at their assembly yesterday heard Dr. W. H. Bromley, who is holding a revival at the Spurgeon Memorial church.

How a physician helped him to make something out of his life, was explained by the speaker. "He told me that nobody would value my services until I valued myself," said Dr. Bromley.

According to the evangelist, the power of discrimination has a great deal to do with the success of a man's life. "When you get married and want to build a house, you won't go to the lumber yard and say, 'I want a lot of lumber, I am going to build a house,' and to the hardware man and say, 'I want a lot of hardware, I am going to build a house,' but you draw plans, and THEN purchase materials to carry out your plan.

"Learn by experience," said he, "and always take the cheerful side of everything."

Dr. Bromley believes that the schooling is the young peoples' process of success.

The orchestra formed an interesting part of the pleasant program presented the students. A medley of popular waltzes, and the Hungarian National Air were two very pretty numbers.

"The Time of Roses" and "The Ginger Bread Man" by the Girls' Glee Club were greatly appreciated.

Baseball games, tennis, and last, but not least, debates were announced.

RECORD S. A. RING CROWD SEE 'JAP' ROMERO WIN OVER 'ONE-ROUND' NORMAN

Before the largest crowd that ever witnessed an evening of boxing in Santa Ana, "Jap" Romero, of San Diego, boxed his way to a popular decision over "Kid" Norman, of Los Angeles, at the Grand Opera House last night.

The bout between Romero and Norman was perhaps the best of a double main event, though many of the fans believed that the mill between "Red" Mathews of Anaheim and Paddy Dillon of San Diego—the bout that was billed as the headliner with the Romero-Norman go—was on an equal footing as far as speed and "class" was concerned. Norman, a snappy colored boxer, has been in the habit of "getting" many of his opponents in the first round. If he expected to repeat this performance against Romero, he was very greatly mistaken, for the Jap carried the argument to the colored man all the way.

Re-Matched

Norman and Romero were re-matched for a bout to be staged here April 1.

As for the semi-windup, between Dillon and Mathews, it proved a fine match. Dillon was outwitted by Mathews but put up a game exhibition of the manly art, demonstrating that he is "there with the goods." He made Mathews work hard for a decision which was looked upon by the fans as equitable.

Three short rounds were put on by two boys who appeared under the pseudonyms of "Kid Mixum" and "Kid Knockem." These boxers kept the fans in an uproar from the start. Every blow that landed left its mark, and no wonder, for lampblack had been put on the gloves. It was a "stunt" that won over the house, and the bout made a distinct hit as a curtain-raiser.

M'Manus, Caldren Draw

"Young" McManus of Vernon and Jimmy Caldren of San Diego staged a mill at 118 pounds. Though this bout was not as snappy as some of the rest, the boys were evenly matched and went to a draw.

The third go was given out as an extra bout between Jack Volmer of Orange and "Young" Jones of Olive. They went into the ring at 100 pounds and went through three two-minute rounds. Jones was a little heavier of the two, but the smaller lad carried the boxing to the end all the way and was given a decision.

Howard Swall, the local battler, was matched with "Young" Hector of Vernon in the fourth affair. Both boys went in at about 145 pounds. They were both willing to mix, as was evidenced as soon as they got into action. The first round was even, but Swall came back strong in the second and rained terrific punishment on the man from Vernon, who was game, but who had to give up to the better man.

Hanlon Referee

"Pop" Hanlon, of Los Angeles, popular boxing enthusiast, known throughout Southern California, acted as referee for the double main event, and C. I. McCoy, of McCoy and C. G. Wilford, who are staging the bouts here, was third man during the preliminaries. Wilford made a good announcer, and Floyd ("Slim") Neal held the watch.

It was announced that another card would be staged next Thursday, and every week thereafter as long as the boxing sport is given support locally. Thursday night Paddy Dillon is to be put up against the best 122-pound man obtainable from Vernon, possibly Charles Moy or "Kid" Brennon. "Red" Mathews will be used against a good 135-pound man from "up north." Popular "Battling" Chico of Fullerton also will be used on this card.

In addition to the return match between Romero and Norman, Howard Swall will be given another opportunity to show the Vernon mixers "where to get off." Jimmie Smith is another who will appear on the bill on April 1.

BIG STRAIN ON NEW BEVERLY TRACK DUE

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 19 — Although the huge saucer-shaped track at the new Beverly hills speedway underwent a terrific strain during the opening race, an even greater test will be given it during the series of sprints to be staged on it Sunday afternoon, March 21.

"The faster the cars go the greater the strain there is on the surface and supports of the track," explains Jack Prince, veteran track builder, who designed and supervised construction of Los Angeles' new triple-radius speedway, which has been declared to be the finest track ever built.

"Imagine a constant procession of cars traveling four abreast on the Beverly track, with a continuous speed of 100 miles an hour," continued Prince. "Do you think the track would stand it? It certainly would."

GRID BUSINESS ON ALL YEAR 'ROUND

By FRANKLIN B. MORSE

(Written for Pacific Sports Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 19 — To the average person who is on the outside looking in and unfamiliar with the inner workings of American football, it may come as something of a surprise to learn that instead of a brief three month season, the business of football is going on every month in the year.

True, the actual playing season begins in September and is over with the end of November in the large majority of cases, but the preparation for these brief three months is never ending. Any collegiate team that figured it could concentrate all of its football into September, October and November would find that a sad mistake had been made after the first game was played.

No football player who has any aspirations to excel in the game could succeed by entirely dropping all thought of the game. He must continue to keep himself in trim in a mild way, for the very brevity of the season precludes his conditioning himself during the actual playing season. He must enter into it well conditioned.

Naturally, it is on the coach that the greater responsibility rests. No coach knows what new material is available but he knows what veteran stuff he will have to start with. He must prepare his campaign for next year as soon as this season's play is over. He must have fully decided beforehand just what disposition he will make with the various styles of new players he will get, in relation to their play with the veterans. Of course the quality of his new material may entirely change the policy on which he has decided, but at least he must have arranged at a starting point from which to make the necessary deviations.

The greatest care has to be exercised in the matter of making up

ORANGE TAKES CHAMPIONSHIP AT COLTON

Orange Union High School's basketball team yesterday afternoon won the championship of Southern California in that sport by defeating the Colton five on its home court by the score of 28 to 16. The result of the game was never in doubt. Orange got away to a good lead in the first half, and was never headed off although Colton staged a comeback in the first few minutes of the second half and added 11 points to its score before the Orange machine settled down to work. In the neighborhood of 500 people witnessed the game, about 100 of this number being from Orange.

Keuchel was the star point getter for the Orange county aggregation, shooting sufficient baskets to run up 12 points. Roberts and Granger tied for second honors with six points each. Blank and Richards each added two points to the Orange score. The game was marred by consistent fouling on the part of the Colton quintet, and Brown, star forward of the Colton team, was finally put out of the game after four personal fouls had been marked up against him. The total personal fouls on the part of the Colton team was 11. Three personal fouls were marked up against Orange.

The original Orange lineup of Roberts and Granger, forwards; Keuchel, center, and Richards and Blank, guards, played through the entire fracas. Only one change was made in the Colton lineup, Tanner taking Brown's place after the latter was put out of the game for fouling.

Efforts are now being made to arrange for a game between the Stockton and Orange quintets to decide the state championship. Correspondence was sent off today by Coach Albert W. Dowden of the Orange team looking to have the playoff next week if the game can be arranged.

The Colton lineup in yesterday's game was Brown and Gould, forwards; Casey, center, and Rutherford and Hosegood, guards. Tanner substituted for Brown. Coach Cox of Hollywood High was the referee.

The schedule of games. A too frequent recurrence of hard contests may so batter up a team that when the time comes for its crucial test, it is entirely incapacitated to carry out the business in hand. For this reason the coaches and managers of the teams must keep a close watch on the relative playing abilities of the various opponents they select for their schedule. They must also be more or less capable prophets in order to guess what sort of teams their prospective opponents are likely to have the following season as a guide to the compilation of the next playing schedule.

Thus, at this very moment, which seems very remote from the football season, thousands of men all over the country are giving their best of thought to the problems of next fall which must be solved before the referee blows his first whistle for the initial kickoff.

Followers of pugilism are smiling to themselves in regard to the promise extracted from her husband by Mrs. Georges Carpentier that he will do no more fighting after his meeting with Jack Dempsey, no matter what the outcome of the battle may be. It is recalled that one after another of the fighters who have taken unto themselves brides, have successfully made the same well known promise, and like the average well-intentioned New Year's pledge, it has gone aglimmering.

In the event that Carpentier would defeat Dempsey, such a promise would be more than any human could keep. There would be no end to the harassing he would be compelled to undergo from promoters all over the world, not to mention the

WORLD'S MONEY NOT ENOUGH TO BUY IT

"I wouldn't take all the money in the world for the good Tanlac has done me," said J. B. Allen, a well known employee of the C. B. & Q. railroad, residing at 567 E. Fourth street, Galesburg, Ill.

"I had suffered for six years," he continued, "and had gotten so weak I couldn't do my work regularly and was ready to give up when I began taking Tanlac. Nearly everything I ate disagreed with me and felt like a coal of fire in my stomach and gave me such terrible cramping pains that I could hardly stand them. I was so badly constipated I had to take a laxative nearly every night and awful feverish headaches would come on that would lay me up in bed for a day or more at a time. I lost so much weight and got so weak that I could hardly walk, and really I looked so bad that one day at the roundhouse I overheard one of the boys say: 'He's not long for this world.' Right then I decided to give up my work and try to find something that would help me."

"I read in the papers about Tanlac and decided to try it and now I don't see how in the world a medicine can do what it has done for me. I can eat three big meals every day without any trouble afterwards, the constipation and headaches are gone and my lost weight and strength have all come back. To be exact I now weigh forty-three pounds more than before I began taking Tanlac and never felt stronger in my life. I am the picture of health and the boys all say they never saw anything as wonderful as the way Tanlac has brought back my health."

Tanlac is sold in Santa Ana by Rowley Drug Co. and the leading druggists in every town.

demands of the public which would be eager to see him defend his laurels. Then again we would be compelled to again go through that deadly process of deciding who was the logical champion to inherit the abandoned title.

We went all through this when Jim Jeffries retired and arbitrarily handed his crown to Burns. The controversies which resulted made good copy for the sport writers but it soon became a burden on the reading public. They want no more crowns passed along that are not fought for.

THREE CHURCHES GAVE $496 FOR RELIEF CAUSE

TALBERT, Mar. 19.—Rev. J. J. Woodson has about completed his report for the Near East Relief drive for his circuit, which includes the churches of Talbert, Bolsa and Greenville, and within a few days at most will have it completed. Four hundred and ninety-six dollars was the total of subscriptions with several parties yet to be seen. The district's quota was $542 and this amount would easily have been raised with a surplus if a number residing in the district had turned their subscription in here instead of elsewhere. The drive on this circuit has been on for several weeks. Rev. Woodson's assistants being: At his Greenville church, Eugene Griset; Frank Planchon and Mrs. G. W. Shiffer; at Bolsa, Mrs. John Farnsworth, Mrs. Van Gorder, Sam Price and A. A. Ball; and at Talbert, Mrs. S. E. Talbert, Mrs. Clyde Gilbert and Mrs. Chas. Ward.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Callens and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gisler motored to Oxnard for the day Sunday.

Attend Santa Ana Service

Services at the local church were discontinued Sunday evening to allow those wishing to attend the special services at the Spurgeon Memorial church in Santa Ana a chance to do so. Among those from here who took advantage of this were the pastor, Rev. J. J. Woodson and wife and their daughters, Misses Mable Lee and Dorothy; Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Talbert, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Miller and A. P. Vincent. Rev. Woodson preached as usual Sunday morning at his Greenville church and in the afternoon his pulpit at Bolsa was filled by "Happy" Gordon Meade of Anaheim, who came as a visitor to the church.

Mrs. Clyde Gilbert and daughter, Miss Alpha; Mrs. J. J. Woodson and daughters, Miss Mable, Lee and Dorothy; and Mrs. Elmer Jones drove to Santa Ana Saturday afternoon and attended the meeting held for ladies only at the Spurgeon Memorial church in connection with the revival services now in progress there. The ladies were all greatly delighted with the splendid talk given.

Mrs. Sara Warner entertained as dinner guests Sunday Mrs. Mary Hoffman of Greenville, and her guests, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison. In the afternoon Mrs. Warner's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Irwin Warner, of Huntington Beach, and Mrs. J. H. Cox, were visitors at her home and all passed a pleasant afternoon together.

Tuesday night 23 inches of rain was added to the rainfall, making 7.52 inches for this season. This amount is against 5.52 inches for this date in 1919.

Talbert Personal Notes

Bessie and Travis Masonheimer returned to school Monday, having fully recovered from the influenza.

Forest Sebastian, a nephew of Mrs. J. V. Masonheimer, is here from Huntington Beach, spending the week at the Masonheimer home.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurence of Long Beach, were guests Sunday and Sunday night of their daughter, Mrs. J. A. Miller, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Talbert entertained Mrs. Talbert's brother, Will Brady, wife and three children at their home over the week-end. The visitors were from Hollywood.

Rev. and Mrs. J. J. Woodson are commencing the church survey this week and expect to visit all the people of the Talbert, Greenville and Bolsa charges during the next few weeks in the interest of this work.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gisler and family were guests for the day Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Stoffel.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Gilbert and family and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Wells and family motored to Santa Ana Sunday evening and attended services at the Nazarene church.

Mrs. S. E. Talbert drove to Long Beach Monday, taking Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Miller, who had been guests at the Talbert home, to the home of Mrs. Miller's stepmother, Mrs. Talbert, for a few days' visit. Mr. and Mrs. Miller had planned on starting East next Sunday, but have postponed it until a week from Sunday.

Robt. Gisler's Beets Doing Fine; Mexican Crew's Thinning 'Em

TALBERT, Mar. 19.—Robt. Gisler has 100 acres of beets planted, all of which are up and doing fine. The first forty acres on the place are ready for thinning and a Mexican crew employed, has finished with seven acres.

J. H. Cox was busy cultivating beets this week until the rain came to interfere temporarily with the work.

EMPLOY GUNTHER TO STUDY ASSESSMENTS

ORANGE, Mar. 19.—O. E. Gunther was selected as the man to make a careful study to the question of property valuations in this city and make a recommendation to the assessors as to an equitable assessment of all properties, at a conference between an M. and M. committee and the city trustees. The work is to be completed within three weeks.

The conference believed that a complete revision of assessment figures is necessary in the interest of an equitable assessment.

The representatives of the merchants' association at the meeting were N. T. Edwards, S. B. Edwards, P. Ehen and G. C. Woods. The city was represented by Mayor Ainsworth, Trustees Hallman and Hayward, and City Clerk Yettlin.

Orange Person Notes

Mr. and Mrs. C. Will Houghtaling have returned to Orange to make their home, after a two year's residence in Arizona, where Mr. Houghtaling was employed with a mining concern. They were located at Jerome.

Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Keeney and daughter have returned from Zanja, Calif., where they have been for some time, while Mr. Keeney recuperated from his recent illness. Mr. Keeney returned to Zanja Thursday.

M. C. Porter of East Collins avenue has been entertaining his brother, F. R. Porter, of Los Angeles, and his brother's son, Fred Porter, who is supervisory agent for the American Express at Cheyenne, Wyoming. They all visited Laguna and Arch Beaches and Lemon Heights. The visitors are very much impressed with this part of the country.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB SECTION ENTERTAINED

ORANGE, Mar. 19.—Mrs. F. V. Pruit and Mrs. A. H. Tyrrell entertained the Home Economics section of the Woman's Club, at Mrs. Tyrrell's home, 404 North Orange street.

The decorations were Cherokee roses, green carnations and real shamrock. The topic for the afternoon was "Ireland," discussed from an economical standpoint. All the members responded at roll call with an Irish story. Candelabrum, with lighted green candles, cast an Irish misty atmosphere over the scene, and made the real things seem unreal.

The place cards were the green flag of Ireland, and the favors were green hats, filled with miniature Irish potatoes. Refreshments of cookies, shaped like lilies and shamrock, sherbet and green candy, were served to the twelve members and guests present.

SIGN CORPORATE PAPERS. LAGUNA ART GALLERY

LAGUNA BEACH, Mar. 19.—The Laguna Beach Art Association held a meeting Monday evening, at the art gallery, to prepare papers for incorporation of the association and to adopt the by-laws. Officers and directors were elected, also, to serve until the next annual election, which will be some time in the late summer.

The officers are: president, Edgar A. Payne; first vice-president, Anna A. Hills, second vice-president, Florence Dobbins Lowe; secretary, Nevada Lindsay; treasurer, Henrietta Jahraus; corresponding secretary, Henri G. De Kruff; directors, F. W. Cuprien, E. E. Jahraus and Joseph Skidmore.

In the absence of Edgar Payne, Anna Hills presided. The by-laws and papers of incorporation were read and the latter signed by the following seven members of the association: Albert E. Tanberg, Anna A. Hills, Nevada Lindsay, Henrietta Jahraus, Priscilla M. Evans, Karl Yens and E. E. Jahraus.

It is planned to give entertainments during the coming summer for the benefit of the gallery. Karl Yens suggested that a sketching class be held in the gallery an evening a week, to paint from life. The idea was received with favor and will be taken up by the directors.

Men to Wield the Broom

The men of the association have formed a "Clean Sweep With Little Effort." Miss Hills said that as long as the ladies were giving their time to keep the gallery open, it seemed only right that the stronger sex volunteer to keep it clean. C. A. Failla was the first to accept the challenge, but was so closely followed by the other men present that it was impossible to tell who spoke next. They were each allotted a week. One said that he would be glad to do it "but someone will have to come around and remind me when my week comes."

Reception Saturday, April 3

The jury meets March 26 to judge the pictures for the spring exhibit, which opens on the first of April. A reception will be held Saturday evening, April 3rd at the art gallery.

FOUR SITES FOR PARK CONSIDERED AT ANAHEIM

ANAHEIM, Mar. 19.—The matter of a city park site, long discussed, again occupies the center of attention in Anaheim, with four sites now under consideration.

Mrs. Alexander Wright has offered the 20-acre tract of unimproved land near North Los Angeles street to the city as a park site for the sum of $42,000. The land is ideally situated, being on the state highway.

H. A. Dickel renews his offer to dispose of the 19 acres on North Lemon street to the city for park purposes, including his home plans and that of Mrs. Turck, the consideration being $54,500. Most of the tract is set to bearing orange trees. This site is centrally located, being in the residential part of Lemon street, which is now rapidly building up in the business zone, between Center and Chartres.

Mrs. Adolph Rimpau offers her home place as a site for a park, located on East Center and Olive streets. Many citizens believe this offers an ideal park site, being just far enough removed from the active business center to appeal to them.

The library block site has many supporters, being on the state highway and close to the city center. However, latest reports have it that two property owners there refuse to give options upon their holdings, which has caused a hitch in the proceedings leading to acquisition of this tract for a city park.

Anaheim, Fullerton, Join Whittier for Country Club Plan

FULLERTON, Mar. 19.—A movement is now well under way for the formation of a new country club, with the Anaheim and Fullerton districts joining with Whittier in the move, and the project is reported as on the road to consummation.

A site for the club, located on the Hart ranch, midway between Fullerton and Whittier, is being considered and an option has been secured on the property. This option expires April 1, and it is hoped the club plan will be far enough advanced by that time so the property can be taken over. A golf course is to be one of the main adjuncts of the new club grounds.

The charter membership fee, it is reported, is $200, and that this will be increased to $500 when a total membership of 250 is reached.

HOME FROM TRIP TO PALO VERDE VALLEY

TALBERT, Mar. 19.—Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Wells and children, Lavagahn and Lewis, have arrived home from a ten days' trip to the Palo Verde Valley.

The Wells made the trip with friends, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Martin of Blythe, who, with their family, were returning to their home. The party left there and camped out over night at Palm Springs, reaching Blythe the next evening. The trip proved a very pleasant and uneventful one until within a mile of their destination, when one of the back wheels ran off of the Wells machine. Luckily no one was injured but the car was laid up in a garage for a couple of days as a result.

Short outings were taken about the valley several days during the week's stay and although prosperous signs were observed there, Orange county looks better than ever to Mr. Wells since his return. Onions seemed to be the most extensive crop noticed in the valley.

Mr. Martin, with whom they visited, is a cotton grower and is busily engaged setting his land, something over three hundred acres, in readiness for planting. Mrs. Wells brought home a large bunch of cotton, a sample of his last year's crop, which was a good one.

Mr. and Mrs. Wells and family left on their return home Saturday and had luck attended them all the way. Mrs. Wells was traveling alone on Sunday with just short stretches through the hills where the storm could not reach them, and keeping them at a garage the greater part of the time. Mecca was made the first night and from there to Banning a terrific sand storm, which caused the alkali dust to almost smother them, was traveled through on Sunday with just short stretches through the hills where the storm could not reach them.

The party made Riverside Monday night and leaving there about a quarter of eleven Tuesday morning traveled through the rain the rest of the way home. They spent a part of the afternoon in Santa Ana with Mrs. Wells' daughter, Mrs. Berry Slice, and came on to Talbert late that evening thoroughly glad to reach their destination after three days of hard driving.

Children's Ailments

DISORDERS of the stomach and constipation are the most common diseases of children. To correct them you will find nothing better than Chamberlain's Tablets. One tablet at bed time will do the work and will make your child bright and cheerful the following morning. Do not punish your children by giving them castor oil. Chamberlain's Tablets are better and more pleasant to take.
